Cooleyites Defeated Omaha in Hot Pitchers' Battle.

Game Was a Shutout Until Sixth Inning.

Willis Benched for Attacking Umpire Stockdale.

The Cooleyites continued their winning streak by defeating the Omaha club Friday afternoon. The contest was a pitchers' battle between Willis and Sanford. Willis was the better of the two and was going good until the first half of the seventh, when he attempted to choke Umpire Stockdale and was ordered to he club house. The result might have been different had he been allowed to finish the game. Sanford was pitching out of hole in practically every inning, but was getting away even though the audience was on the verge of collapse.

The final core was 2 to 1.

The contest was one of the hardest fought attles eve. seen on the local grounds. Willis, pitching for Omaha, had defeated the Topeka club so many times this season that pitching against them was becoming monotonous. Topeka has broken the Omaha hoodoo. Cochran led off in the first and hit safe by clouting the first ball pitched, and the rest of the club went out in order. In the second, with two out, Lattinore hit safe but Wakefield was next and went out. Willis then tightened up like a clam and didn't allow another hit until the sixth inning when the locals shoved the first run of the game arross the pan.

Krug was called out in the first of Krug was called out in the first of late.

Two-to-One Game Full of Chills and Thrills.

(By Harve Parsons.) (By Harve Parsons.)

There were nine innings in the Friday game, and the enemy clouded up and threatened to precipitate a shower of runs on just nine different occasions, and just nine times did the home guard crawl out of the hole after they had been buried up to the chin. Nine times the fans were on the ragged edge of heart stoppage, and nine times the cloud rolled by and the sun came out again.

Topeka b-b bugs are hoping that the old street car bridge over the classic Shunganungs creek will not fade into the mud for a few days yet. It is on the ragged edge of collapse, and has been for some time, and the railway company is betting about three cars of its equipment and a couple of hundred passengers that it last through the season.

Nobody paid any attention to Charley the last time he was here, because his name had not been inscribed in the book of fame then. He had just dropped in to see Owen Moran wallop Bat Nelson and he had just been walloped by Danny Webster down in Los Angeles. But things have changed since and this time Charley comes as a hero and everybody is talking about him.

"White is not picking the easy ones," said Lewis. "All he wants is a chance to fight and he doesn't care who he fights either. After he gets through with Azevedo. he'll take on Ritchie or Welsh or any of them. But if Ritchie wants action, he will have to make 133 pounds. This is the recognized weight

"I'll stick right here if they can dig up opponents for me," cut in the fighter after his manager had finished.
